Special Issue on 'Management of Pandemics'

Volume 67, No 03 July-September 2021

COVID-19 will be remembered as the virus that stopped the world. The pandemic has exposed the health security status of countries across the world. Even the countries like the United States, Britain, France, and Germany with better medical facilities, access to resources, and skilled manpower succumbed to the tyranny of this virus. Moreover, the pandemic has affected societies and economies adversely. All major economies have reported a decline in growth rate and poor countries have been worst affected. Different countries responded differently though lockdown was a preferred strategy initially.

The governments' world over took several measures covering all sectors ranging from augmenting health facilities, providing citizens food security, creating avenues for employment, facilitating enterprises, etc. The Government of India also announced a relief package worth Rs. 20 lakh crore covering a range of sectors in May 2020. The stimulus package is a mix of fiscal support, monetary support, ease of doing business processes, as well as some fundamental reforms. If we compare India's stimulus package with that of other developing countries with similar per capita GDP, the Indian response to Covid-19 in terms of percentage of GDP, as well as areas covered, has been significant.

Countries need to chalk-out multi-pronged strategies that take care of not only the health sector but also of the society and the economy. There is a need to devise resilient strategies encompassing behavioral changes in the society, new and innovative ways of doing works, and adoption of technologies. Despite the unexpected nature of the COVID-19 crisis, it has also provided an opportunity for countries and institutions to introduce necessary reforms.

It is pertinent to look at the impact of COVID-19 on various sectors and identify gaps in the institutional responses. It will be important to know how other countries responded to the pandemic and subsequent strategies they adopted. It would also be necessary to analyse the contours of international cooperation in collective response, sharing of knowledge, and the role of different international institutions. The COVID-19 pandemic has fundamentally altered many aspects of life, with both short-term and likely long-term effects. Against this backdrop, the Special Issue of IJPA on 'Management of Pandemics' invites quality papers for a comprehensive analysis of the theme. Submission of papers is solicited on topics as indicated:

Submission Guidelines for Indian Journal of Public Administration/SAGE

The Indian Journal of Public Administration adheres to a rigorous double-blind reviewing policy in which the identity of both the reviewer and author are always concealed from both parties. All manuscripts are reviewed initially by the editor(s) and only those papers that meet the editorial standards of the journal, and fit within the aims and scope of the journal, will be sent for outside review. Only in case of a strong difference of opinion about the quality of submission between the referee and the editor, the item would be referred for a second review to the reviewer. The reviewer will first be sounded among the editorial board members and only in case of necessity will a reference be made to an expert outside this circle.

Full-fledged papers may be of 3,000 to 6,000 words. Word count exceeding 6000 limit will not be further processed. Brief write-ups of 1,000 to 2,500 words (research reports, commentaries, theoretical notes, and data-based profiles) may also be sent; these will be considered for inclusion in sections titled research papers, research notes, book reviews, and occasionally documents and interviews/ dialogues.

Manuscripts should be submitted in soft copy in MS Word as an attachment to chukkathmeghna@gmail.com. Manuscripts will be considered for publication only if written in accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition, 2009).

The authors will be provided with a copyright form once the contribution is accepted for publication. The submission will be considered as final only after the filled-in and signed copyright form is received.

Publication Ethics

SAGE is committed to upholding the integrity of the academic record. We encourage authors to refer to the Committee on Publication Ethics' International Standards for Authors and view the Publication Ethics page on the SAGE Author Gateway

1. Structure

The manuscript should be structured as follows:

- Cover page, showing the title of the paper, name of the author, author's affiliation, and institutional address with pin code, email id, and a 100–150-word abstract. Authors' names and references should not be used in the text to keep authors' anonymity (e.g., 'as the author has written elsewhere' should be avoided). . In case there are two or more authors, then the corresponding author's name and address details must be specified on the first page itself.
- The contributors should also provide 4–5 keywords for online searchability.
- The text should start on a new page, and must not contain the names of authors.
- Paginate. Add proper page numbers at the bottom of every page.
- Write the total word count on the cover page.
- Do not exceed the 6000-word limit inclusive everything.
- References should come at the end of the manuscript.
- Tables and figures should be provided in an editable format and should be referred to in the text by number separately (e.g., Table 1) not by placement (e.g., see Table below). They should each be submitted on a separate page following the article, numbered and arranged as per their references in the text. They will be inserted in the final text as indicated by the author. Source citations with tables and figures are required irrespective of whether or not they require permissions.
- Figures, including maps, graphs, and drawings, should not be larger than the page size. They should be numbered and arranged as per their references in the text. All photographs and scanned images should have a resolution of a minimum of 300 dpi and 1500 pixels and their format should be TIFF or JPEG. Reprint permissions should be obtained for copyright protected photographs/images. Even for photographs/images available in the public domain, it should be ascertained whether or not their reproduction requires permission for purposes of publishing (The Publisher is a profit-making endeavour). All photographs/scanned images should be provided separately in a folder along with the main article.
- Mathematical formulae, methodological details, etc. should be given separately as an appendix unless their mention in the main body of the text becomes essential.

2. Language

- The language and spellings used should be British (U.K.), with 's' variant, e.g., globalisation instead of globalization, labour instead of labor. For non-English and uncommon words and phrases, use italics only for the first time. Meaning of non-English words should be given in parenthesis just after the word when it is used for the first time.
- Articles should use non-sexist and non-racist language.
- Spell out numbers from one to ninety-nine, 100 and above to remain in figures. However, for exact measurement (e.g., China's GDP growth rate of 9.8 percent) use numbers. Very large round numbers, especially sums of money, maybe expressed by a mixture of numerals and spelled-out numbers (India's population 1.2 billion).
- Single quotes should be used throughout. Double quote marks are to be used within single quotes. Spellings of words in quotations should not be changed. Quotations of 45 words or more should be separated from the text.
- Notes should be numbered serially and presented at the end of the article. Notes must contain more than a mere reference.
- Ibid. should be used.

- Use ‘percent’ instead of % in the text. In tables, graphs, etc., % can be used. Use the ‘20th century’, ‘1990s’.
- Number ranges should not be truncated.
- Initials with full points and no spaces.
- The journal does not encourage frequent use of capital letters. They should be used selectively and consistently. Proper names such as names of ethnic, religious, and national groups are capitalised (the Muslims, the Gurkhas, the Germans). The terms dalits and adivasis, as exceptions, must be set in lowercase. All caste, tribe, and community names (the Santhals, the Jatavs) are to be capitalised but generic terms (the kayasths) should be set in lower case. Civil, military, religious, and professional titles (the President), institutions (the Parliament, the United Nations), and names of organisations (the Labour Party and the Students Federation of India) are to be capitalised. The names of political tendencies (the marxists, the socialists) should remain in lowercase.
- Abbreviations are spelled out at first occurrence. Very common ones (US, GDP, BBC) need not be spelled out. Other commonly used abbreviations (am, pm, cm, kg, ha) can be used in lower case, without spaces.

3. Citations and References

Guidelines specified in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition, 2009) must be followed.

- References: A consolidated listing of all books, articles, essays, theses, and documents referred to (including any referred to in the tables, graphs, and maps) should be provided at the end of the article.
- Arrangement of references: Reference list entries should be alphabetized by the last name of the first author of each work. In each reference, authors’ names are inverted (last name first) for all authors (first, second or subsequent ones); give the last name and initials for all authors of a particular work unless the work has more than six authors. If the work has more than six authors, list the first six authors and then use et al. after the sixth author’s name.
- Chronological listing: If more than one work by the same author(s) is cited, they should be listed in order by the year of publication, starting with the earliest.
- Sentence case: In references, sentence case (only the first word and any proper noun are capitalized – e.g., ‘The software industry in India’) is to be followed for the titles of papers, books, articles, etc.
- Title case: In references, Journal titles are put in title case (the first letter of all words except articles and conjunctions are capitalized – e.g., Journal of Business Ethics).
- Italicize: Book and Journal titles are to be italicized.
- Citations and References should adhere to the guidelines below (based on the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th edition). Some examples are given below:
